Tariff Commission Report

Chinaware Imports Seen Posing No Serious Threat For Domestic Producers

Imports of chinaware into the United States are not increasing to such a degree — as a result of concessions granted under trade agreements — so as to cause serious injury to the domestic industry, the U. S. Tariff Commission has announced.

The report of the commission resulted from a study made on effects of imports of household china tableware and kitchenware in connection with the Trade Expansion Act of 1962.

The report's decision went on to say: "This finding was based primarily on the determination that the increased imports of chinaware are not a result in major part of trade agreement concessions."

PUBLIC HEARINGS on the issues were held July 24-Aug. 1 last year. The Trade Expansion Act was signed into law Oct. 11.

The report said "In view of the upward trend of imports of household china tableware and kitchenware in recent years, and particularly the much larger imports in 1962 than in 1961, the commission found that such chinaware 'is being imported...in increased quantities' within the meaning of the Trade Expansion Act.

The trade agreement concessions granted by the United States on chinaware resulted in tariff reductions of varying amounts made at different times on bone china and feldspathic china, top, middle and bottom categories.

THE REPORT indicated that since 1951 annual imports of bone china have fluctuated and since 1959 have declined.

Imports in top value categories of feldspathic china include medium and high-priced dinnerware from West Germany and other European countries and low priced Japanese dinnerware.

"Much of the imported chinaware that falls in the top value category is sold on a prestige basis, price being a secondary consideration for many ultimate consumers. Inasmuch as the duty concessions did not generally result in price reductions on the U. S. market...the trade-agreement concessions provided no direct stimulus to consumer demand for the imported product."

"The general upward trend of imports...has been due principally to the rise in consumer purchasing power, the increase in the number of families entering the market for higher priced prestige china and the growing demand for low-priced dinnerware sets...The tariff concessions applicable to feldspathic china in the top category could not have been a significant factor in causing the upward trend of imports of such china in recent years."

THE REPORT went on to say in regard to feldspathic china, "Although the duty reductions in 1955 may have initially offered some stimulus to imports in the bottom and middle value categories, other forces have been materially more important..."

Most of the imports in the bottom and middle categories have come from Japan, the report states. Among the more important factors behind the upward trend in these classes are continuing efforts by Japanese manufacturers to supply a variety of patterns, shapes and sizes adapted to the U. S. market, improved merchandizing in the U. S. by importers of Japanese ware and the rise in U. S. per capita income and population.

JAPANESE manufacturers supply the bulk of the growing market for low-priced formal china dinnerware, the report declares.

"Domestic manufacturers...have never offered significant competition in this market either before or after reductions in duties were made."

"U.S. consumers have become increasingly aware, in recent years, that Japanese dinnerware of very good quality can be purchased at prices materially below those of comparable ware from other sources. The attractive price and ready availability, even in most of the better stores, have contributed to increase consumer acceptance of Japanese dinnerware."

THERE IS considerable evidence that this low-priced formal Japanese china dinnerware supplies a market that was largely created through the joint efforts of producers and importers of that ware and that in the absence of their enterprise, most of this market would not exist.

"If such dinnerware were not available, many consumers who purchase low-priced Japanese ware would do without, as they did for six years during and immediately after World War II. There is no evidence that domestic producers could supply any appropriate part of this market."

"IN VIEW of the considerations set forth above, it is apparent that the increased imports of household china tableware and

Legislature Stamps OK On 3 Bills

Regents, Utilities And Liquor Board Measures Passed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—This is a good week in the legislature for bills backed by Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Rhodes' backers among the lawmakers jammed through three bills Tuesday to support his program. A fourth, scheduled for a House vote today, would set up an anti-delinquency youth commission in keeping with a campaign pledge. If adopted, the youth commission bill will go to the Senate.

Ready for Rhodes' signature as soon as all the legislative formalities are over are bills to: Create a state board of regents to supervise higher education in Ohio.

Direct Ohio utilities to make quarterly payments of their present annual tax which finances the poor relief program.

Reduce the present four-member Liquor Control Board to a three-member liquor commission at increased salaries.

The regents bill, with solid Republican support, popped out of the Senate with GOP amendments limiting any future members of state university boards of trustees to a maximum of nine years in office. The limit is similar to the limit placed by the main bill to members of the board of regents.

The idea, presented by Sen. Kline L. Roberts, R-Franklin, is to keep fresh ideas in front of university trustees for their consideration.

The bill would not, as originally intended, have any control of the degree programs of the major universities. The universities would have the last word in that area.

The floor fight which kept the Senate in session about 4½ hours also included eventual passage of a bill to permit the state to make quarterly, instead of annual, collections from public utilities to pay both state and local poor relief payments.

Democratic senators from metropolitan counties insisted the state would be taking advantage of a situation in which the hard-pressed state treasury could pick up about $35 million in ready cash with equally hard-pressed county relief districts picking up no money.

Finance Director Richard L. Krabach, who disclaims sponsorship of the bill, proclaims: "We'll be glad to have any measure which builds up the treasury."

But minority Leader Frank W. King, D-Lucas, and Sen. Charles J. Carney, D - Mahoning, both pointed out that counties with big relief problems are as much in the hole, proportionately, as the state.

Why, they asked, should the state be enabled to get off the financial hook without a proportionate benefit to relief districts? Republican backers of the bill argued that relief districts would not lose a penny under the proposal.

Steel Prices Are Boosted

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP)—The Wheeling Steel Corp. has announced price increases for several of its products effective today—the first anniversary of the steel price hike that led to a clash between some top leaders of the industry and an angry President Kennedy.

Wheeling Steel, the 11th largest steel producer in the nation, announced Tuesday it was raising prices on steel plates and other items.

The increases averaged about $6 a ton—the amount of the increase announced a year ago and quickly rescinded by several companies under White House pressure.

Hancock Grand Jury Reports

Mayhew Indicted In Fund Shortages Of $53,797

An indictment charging grand larceny in connection with a shortage of $53,797.01 in tax funds, based in an audit of the Hancock County sheriff's office, was returned against Edward W. Mayhew, chief clerk, by the April Grand Jury Tuesday in New Cumberland.

The true bill returned against the 64-year-old Pughtown resident was one of 11 reported by the panel of eight women and seven men. The indictments accuse 10 defendants, all but one charged with felonies.

MAYHEW is charged in one indictment listing four counts in connection with shortages in tax department funds.

According to an audit of the sheriff's department completed by an aide from the state tax commissioner's office, the shortages occurred between Jan. 1, 1963, and Sept. 13, 1962. Mayhew was chief deputy in the tax office since 1933.

Testifying before the grand jurors in the embezzlement charge were Sheriff Joseph H. Manypenny, head of the department, who filed the complaint, and J. Rector Britton, who completed the audit for the state tax commissioner's office. Over an hour was spent in hearing testimony on the one indictment asked by Prosecuting Atty. Floyd R. Tarr.

SEVEN OF the 10 defendants were arraigned this morning before Judge James G. McClure.

by strife since Gov. William Scranton's administration ordered a 10 per cent reduction in the maintenance crews.

Authorities said the fires destroyed sheds in Brighton and Harmony Townships and caused heavy damage to a third building in Hanover Township. In the initial investigation yesterday, authorities termed the blazes arson, but declined to link them directly with the Highway Department's recent labor trouble.

Sgt. John Krizton of the Pennsylvania State Police said Basalyga was traced through a gasoline can left at the scene at the Harmony Township fire.

The sergeant said the building apparently was doused with gasoline, then touched off with a piece of burning paper.

The Hookstown volunteer fire department was called Monday about midnight to battle the blaze in the Hanover Township shed, located at Hillendale. A grader and highlift were saved, but the building and its other contents were destroyed, the department said.

No other reports of violence were received as the State Fire Marshal's office continued its investigation of the blazes.

Snow Flurries Mark New April Cold Snap

The city had snow flurries this morning as a pre-Easter cold snap pushed temperatures below freezing.

The downtown had a chilly 28 at 6 a. m. and the Ohio weatherman said the mercury may drop to 24 to 29 tonight. The day's high will range between 38 and 45.

Thursday will be sunny and a little warmer.

265 Children Led From School Blaze

DETROIT (AP) — Nuns and priests today calmly evacuated 265 school children shortly before a flash fire destroyed the 53-year-old Our Lady of Sorrows Roman Catholic Church and gutted an unused manufacturing plant. No injuries were reported.

$674,224 Fiscal Fund Shows Rise

1963-64 Budget Up By $119,316 With All Offices Sharing

Hancock County commissioners have approved their new budget for operation of county government in fiscal 1963-64, amounting to a total of $674,224.

The fund is up by $119,316 over last year and provides revenue for $20 monthly salary raises for 70 employees on the county payroll.

Allocations were hiked for just about every Courthouse department. Only the assessor's office shows a decrease.

Assessments Up

The huge increase in funds to operate county government follows a hike of $30 million in assessments on real estate and personal property. But county commissioners shaved their levy rates on property because of the broader tax base.

In line with the new budget, one department head announced a promotion, calling for a salary hike.

Helen Cuppy has been promoted as chief deputy assessor to fill a vacancy created by the dismissal of James Hanna.

Hanna was chief deputy under former Assessor Anthony (Tony) Leon, who resigned to seek the nomination of mayor of Weirton and in a dispute with the state tax commissioner over a new property reappraisal program.

Promotion Announced

Arnold F. Anderson, new assessor, announced the promotion of Miss Cuppy, a veteran in the assessor's office.

Miss Cuppy's salary will be $450 a month, compared to the $520 received by the former chief deputy assessor, Anderson announced.

Commissioners anticipate raising $624,174 of the new budget by tax levies on property, and the remaining $50,050 will come from earnings of the sheriff, clerks in

Lisbon Board Cuts Classes, Hikes Pay

LISBON — A cutback in the faculty and courses offered was authorized by the Lisbon Board of Education Tuesday night along with an upward revision of salaries for teachers with seniority.

The board trimmed the present 72-member teaching staff down to 65 for next term, dropping from the regular curriculum such courses as driver education, commercial education, some English courses and speech and hearing therapy.

The board indicated hopes for offering driver training during the summer. Added to the school program were a special education class for slow learners in the 10 to 13-year-old group, industrial arts for the junior high school, guidance, personal typing and note taking.

The teaching staff duties will be re-arranged to provide for instruction in the retained courses and the new courses, board members reported.

Thirty-six teachers were given one-year contracts, two were given continuing contracts, and the remainder with continuing contracts were granted salary increases.

Top bracket teachers were raised from about $5,500 to $5,700 under the revision.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Sally Workman, sixth grade teacher at McKinley School, effective in June.

Discussion was held on summer school classes and school bus trips, with board members pointing out the need for more buses.

SEATO Plans Show Of Force

3-Nation Control Group In Laos For Peace Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The three-nation International Control Commission flew to the Plaine des Jarres today in an effort to bring peace between neutralist and pro-Communist forces which have been fighting there for the past 10 days.

The commission's trip was part of a diplomatic campaign to restore peace in the area which the United States regards as a prime testing ground of the oft-claimed Soviet policy of peaceful coexistence.

A Southeast Asia Treaty Organization show of force also was testing ground of the oft-claimed Communist Pathet Lao faction that is threatening to fan the flames of civil war again.

The control commission's Indian, Canadian and Polish members planned to stay only a few hours at the trouble scene 120 miles northeast of Vientiane since the Pathet Lao has refused to permit establishment of a permanent truce team there. The mediators hoped to arrange a peace meeting between neutralist Gen. Kong Le and the Pathet Lao military chief, Gen. Singkapa.

A commission attaché made a fast trip to the Plaine Tuesday and reported that the fighting between neutralist and Pathet Lao forces had quieted down.

The commission plans to send a representative to the Plaine daily in an effort to prevent further outbreaks.

Repeated Pathet Lao attacks in the past 10 days forced neutralist troops of Gen. Kong Le to withdraw from the town of Xieng Khouang and retreat to the Plaine de Jarres, 120 miles north of Vientiane. The Pathet Lao already controls most of northern Laos. Neutralist and right-wing circles fear they may be getting ready to extend their hold.

A full-scale campaign by the Pathet Lao probably would mean a quick Red victory—rather than a long war on the Viet Nam pattern—unless the United States and its SEATO allies intervene with large numbers of their own troops. The civil war which ended last year demonstrated that the right-wing army of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan was no match for the Pathet Lao. Resistance by Kong Le's badly outnumbered neutralist troops probably would be short.

Meeting in Paris, the eight SEATO allies made plans for a massive show of force in neighboring Thailand and the South China Sea in an effort to discourage Communist military adventures.

Jenkins Quits Highway Post In Division 11

Robert Jenkins, design and planning engineer for the State Highway Department's Division 11 office in New Philadelphia, has submitted his resignation, effective Monday, to accept a post with a consulting engineering firm.

Jenkins, who worked in the division office for 12 years, will take a job with the firm of W. E. Quicksall & Associates of New Philadelphia. Quicksall, head of the firm, is a former Division 11 engineer.

Jenkins will be replaced by Sherman S. Price of Dover, for the last four years preliminary design engineer in the division office. Price has been with the Highway Department 30 years. Before assuming his present post, he was the division's chief design engineer.

Meanwhile, a spokesman in the New Philadelphia office confirmed that consideration has been given to transferring John Ursu of Salem, resident engineer for the department in Columbiana County, to a new post in Belmont County.

The Division 11 spokesman said a $6 million project is under way

Prelude For Easter

Good Friday Services Set For District Communities

By ROSE NUZZO

Christians in the East Liverpool district, as all over the world, will worship in sadness Good Friday for the death of Jesus Christ on the cross at Calvary. Union services are being sponsored by ministerial associations.

It is a sadness, however, that will be tempered by thoughts of joy on Easter Sunday when the Resurrection of the Savior is commemorated.

Churches will remain open most of Good Friday but solemnity and mourning will be most intense from the hours of noon to 3 p.m.—the period from Christ's Crucifixion to His death.

Other congregations will have evening services for those who are unable to worship during the day.

In the Catholic churches the day will be celebrated with special services, including Stations of the Cross, Solemn Liturgical service, unweaving and Adoration of the Cross, reading of the Passion and Communion services.

The East Liverpool Ministerial Association will sponsor a union Good Friday service at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church from noon to 3.

Nine ministers will participate with the Rev. D. R. Salisbury Jr., host pastor at the liturgical.

East End union Good Friday services will be held at the Second United Presbyterian Church with the Rev. John Redmond, host pastor, and guest ministers in charge. Special music will be featured.

Earliss Gleaton, minister of the Chester First Christian Church, will be the speaker at the union Good Friday services in Chester at 7:30 p.m. at the First Methodist Church. Five other ministers, including the Rev. Paul Dipolito, host pastor, will participate.

At Wellsville, union Good Friday services will be held at the Church from 2 to 3 p.m. with the Rev. Bruce Davis, host pastor, presiding.

The Rev. Robert Andrews of the First Christian Church will be the speaker. The choir of the Lee's Chapel of the African Me-

Party Honors Potter Ending Long Career

Clarence Beilby, 610-A Washington St., Newell, was guest of honor at a party Tuesday noon at the Homer Laughlin China Co., marking his retirement after more than 50 years as a potter.

A dinner at Laughlin's Plant No. 4, Beilby retired, effective Monday. He learned his trade at the former West End Pottery Co., where he went to work March 11, 1913. He had been an employee of Laughlin's since 1927.

Seventy-five attended the party, staged by employees of the bisque warehouse and dippers in Plants 4 and 5. The committee was comprised of Ray Beresford, chairman, Mrs. Nora Dyke, Mrs. Blanche Cook and Sidney Perkins.

Refreshments were served from a buffet table decorated in a pink, white and green color scheme.

The table was centered with a large cake carrying the inscription: "May your leisure hours be happy ones."

Miniature Easter baskets were favors.

Beilby was presented with a cash gift and a fishing rod from his fellow employees, foremen and foreladies. The presentation speech was made by Clarence Deeds, superintendent of Plants 4 and 5.

Beilby is a member of IBOP Local 9. He said he expects to continue to reside at Newell and spend his retirement years in the immediate Ohio Valley area, pursuing his hobby of fishing.

Salinger Gives News Views To Cleveland Club

CLEVELAND (AP) — Pierre Salinger, White House news secretary, says the most important relationship between newspapers and the government is access to records and people.

And Salinger feels the White House is more accessible to reporters than it ever has been—and so is the President.

Salinger gave those views to an audience of 600 persons at a Press Club awards luncheon Tuesday.

"When government information is free in access," said Salinger, "then news cannot be managed."

In giving newsmen access "not only to information, but to people who have the information, the record will show the stranding of this administration with those who cover the news is extremely high," Salinger continued.

"No place in the White House is off-limits," he said, in contrast to what Salinger said was a previous policy of clearing everything through the White House press secretary. This development, he said, "has brought back a period of competition, initiative and enterprise" in news coverage.

Salinger did not refer in his 20-minute speech to the 129-day newspaper blackout in Cleveland that ended Sunday night. But later in a news conference he said "the White House was in very close touch with people here" during the newspaper strike. He declined to identify the persons contacted.

Claims Speed Mark

CLEVELAND (AP)—American Airlines claimed a speed record of 3 hours, 4 minutes and 57 seconds between Los Angeles and Cleveland for one of its jet airliners Tuesday. The old record was 3 hours and 16 minutes, the company said. The highest ground speed was 760 miles an hour.

The Motion Could Be Renewed

One of the puzzles of the Christian era—the movable date of Easter—has the simplest of explanations.

Easter is celebrated at different dates from year to year because that is the way it has been done since the Council of the Christian Churches at Nicea in A.D. 325.

What was begun as an arbitrary rule 1,638 years ago has acquired the force of tradition. Now, if proposals to undo the tradition are made, they are regarded as heretical. In fact, they aren't heretical at all.

Roman Catholics at the Ecumenical Council in Vatican City last December talked about negotiating with non-Catholic Christian churches on a fixed date for Easter. Leading Christian churches are open to suggestions for a date more satisfactory than the formula for the first Sunday after the first full moon following the vernal equinox. This makes Easter come as early as March 22 or as late as April 25.

And why was this done by the Council of Nicea? To light pilgrims who traveled to the Holy Land to celebrate the Resurrection? They needed a full moon for protection against roving bands of marauders.

Historians recall a conference called by the League of Nations in 1923 to discuss the problem of an Easter date. A general desire to fix Easter on the same date each year was expressed, just as the date of Christmas is fixed, except Easter would fall always on Sunday.

Five years later, in 1928, the British Parliament passed an act designating the first Sunday after the second Saturday in April as Easter Day. Britain was ready to act. One proviso was added—that the date would have to be accepted internationally.

It never was. That is why Easter still is a movable date—because nothing ever was done about changing it. The light of the full moon is still more important than any other factor.

Don't Point That Thing At Us!

Harold Wilson's televised statement in this country that Great Britain never can think of itself as a first-class nuclear power because it must depend on someone else for its weapons should cause no stir back home, where Prime Minister Macmillan has been talking about the same reality. The British accept the idea.

For Americans who like to see their country sometimes as others are forced to look at it, the Labor party leader's remark becomes a comment on a situation that never has been put in clear perspective.

There are two first-class nuclear powers—the United States and the Soviet Union. Countries destined to be second-rate nuclear powers may take themselves out of competition eventually. The reason is simple.

Confronted with a choice between trying to do the impossible and perishing in the attempt, or gambling on survival as second-rate powers, they will choose the latter.

The Border Is Still Open

One of the built-in blessings of popular government is its ability to survive inconclusive election outcomes.

The United States did this in 1960, and it appears that Canada is going to do it in 1963. In an election whose key issue was Canadian feeling about the United States, this country's friends—the Liberal party—fell short of a majority while outdistancing the candidates of the Conservative party.

This will mean that Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker, who campaigned on an anti-United States platform, will be forced to yield to Lester B. Pearson, leader of the Liberals. Though the Canadian election was not entirely a popularity contest for the United States, Canadian feeling about the United States was heavily involved, more than any other issue.

But there was no involvement that will affect tourists. The border is still open. The issue was whether or not the United States has any right to use economic and military muscles to shape Canada's destiny.

Canadian pride has been hurt by a gnawing doubt about playing a little brother role to the U.S. big brother role in World Politics. It has been hurt by U.S. State Department criticism of its nuclear defense posture.

There have been cries of "Canada for the Canadians." No one has shouted, "Yankees go home." But there have been murmurs about wishing Yankees would show more restraint. Canadian nationalism has been throbbing.

If the election had been a thumping success for either the Conservatives or the Liberals, relations with Canada might be touchy. As it is, they are just about as they were before, a little of this and a little of that. Or as the leader of one of Canada's minority papers is supposed to have said before the Canadian Parliament on one occasion: "Americans are our best friends, whether we like it or not."

There Are Times When You Wonder

Secretary of State Rusk has spoken forthrightly on the foreign aid appropriation, perhaps too forthrightly for the good of the cause.

What sounded to congressional skeptics like a plot to color them red in the New Frontier coloring book may backfire. Secretary Rusk says nothing would please the Communists more than "to see the Yanks go home."

It isn't the purpose of foreign-aid cutting to make the Yanks go home. The purpose is to keep the Yanks from looking like fools by giving money to people who don't deserve it and don't know what to do with it.

It is to convince foreigners proverbially careful with their own money that Americans have returned to a state of financial responsibility after behaving irresponsibly.

It is to show the world that Congress is capable of taking advantage of the two findings in the Clay report, that the United States should tighten up all of its foreign aid spending and discontinue some of it entirely.

Furthermore, there is a question about the threadbare argument that a thing must be done thus and so in the United States because to do otherwise would please the Russians. This has been used as a crowbar on everything from education to religion, from civil defense to national defense, from foreign aid to poor relief.

It has been over-used.

Russians do not make lists of things that would please them if the United States did them. They do not share their interest hopes with Americans.

The argument invariably is misused to advance the interests of someone in the United States, not to advance the interests of the Soviet Union.

Wouldn't it be likelier that the Soviet Union secretly prays right now for the United States to dissipate what is left of its gold reserve by failing to slash its foreign aid appropriation?

Hover-Machines

By Truman Twill

As I have been predicting every since the electric fan was invented, air blasts will put wheels out of style.

Wheels will not go out of use, understand—just out of style. The way the sledge went out of style. You don't know what a sledge is?

It's a heavy-duty sled. They used planks for runners. When the frost went out of the ground, farmers used sledges for getting around on soft ground.

There was a special kind called a stone sledge, designed for hauling stones off fields. Heavy stones could be rolled into it, because it was on ground level.

Sledges then went out of style. Today everything is wheels, even when a sledge would be better. But wheels, too, will go out of style. The handwriting is on the hubcap.

Two Texans named Kenneth and Rodney Wernicke, twin brothers, developed an idea for Bell Helicopter Co. It evolved into Design Patent 194,969. This is how it works, though actually all these air machines work the same way.

A scooter engine turns a 30-inch fan inside a plastic form about 10 feet long and three feet high. The occupant—or driver—can make the vehicle move forward or sideways. It can attain a speed of up to 25 miles an hour and rise from six to eight inches off the ground.

The company owning the patent is going to try out the vehicles at amusement parks for a starter. But there is a more serious side to the development of the patent.

The company will experiment for the U.S. Navy this summer with a 65-foot, 27-ton vehicle on Lake Erie. Meanwhile, people like me who have confidence in the evolution of locomotion will be watching. We have confidence.

We have seen the auto grow from a horseless carriage powered by a crude internal combustion engine into a functional entity perfectly adapted to the circumstances of modern transportation. Manufacturers even make personal transportation that can be parked easily, operated cheaply and purchased for a reasonable price. I am a satisfied customer.

When you buy your first one, if you remember that you read about it here first, tell the salesman. Out of sheer, throbbing gratitude he may want to take Tottering Truman, as they will be calling him, for a cross-country spin.

And be careful of the fences, and trees, you fool.

Takes Some Of The Fun Out Of It

Welfare Help Takes To Highways

By Victor Riesel

PITTSBURGH Ride the sleekest trains and the swiftest jets — and many a time you find yourself practically alone.

America is hitting the road with some two hundred million trips by private car in one year. Not always for pleasure. Frequently in search of jobs, rolling in jaloopies with the family and belongings packed into the back.

In the next month, if the past is prelude, more than 800,000 workers will change jobs — and half of them will hit the highways into other labor markets. Many, many of them will be underfed, or ill, or disturbed inwardly, or in family conflict.

Of those uprooted and on the move because of automation of field and factory, tens of thousands will need social welfare help while on the roadways — and there are unique pilot projects for breadwinners who want to work and are willing to go anywhere they can earn their daily bread.

IS THERE a need for such social welfare in the field? Well, in the areas surrounding this steel city some 10,000 road travelers sought aid in just one recent year. A National Study Service survey in the Albany-Troy-Schenectady area over in New York, discloses that 2,300 requests for assistance were made of strangers by moving people in one month.

I discussed this other day with one of the most imaginative labor officials in the land — Leo Perlis, head of the AFL-CIO Community Services.

It's Perlis who first led the fight on the quacks who have been bilking the working citizenry out of half a billion dollars a year in fake medicines. It is Perlis who set up sociological workshops inside unions so that the memberships would be taught to help themselves as well as the communities at large.

It's Perlis who has just wound up labor's first "leisure time" conference at which plans were made to train union members to use their leisure time during this era of the shortening work week. This training will be of great benefit to the nation — idle time could bring many social catastrophes if not properly handled.

NOW PERLIS is concerned with the hundreds of thousands of workers — especially the youth — who are hitting the road.

They hit the road, the youngsters do, without a car. And they need help frequently, he points out. Over 23,000 hitchhikers, most of them seeking work, were helped by the National Travelers Aid Association at last annual count.

What happens to the men on foot, or the families in cars when they need help and find themselves at the edge of a community already burdened by welfare problems?

They go first, Perlis tells me, to the gas service station attendants, and then to the clergy and to the police.

It's all mighty different from the day the working people got off a train or a ship, and in dismay and fright and confusion found themselves directed to the familiar Travelers Aid desk in the rail depot or waterfront street.

Now Perlis and his labor committee, cooperating with the Travelers Aid, pointed out that you just can't put desks alongside the endless thousands of highway miles.

So for the good of the troubled job seekers and the communities near which they pass, or through which they go, Perlis and his friends in the Travelers Aid plan to put mobile social service offices "on wheels." These will go looking for trouble.

THEY'LL PATROL. They will go into the highway restaurants and check with service stations and the police.

These social service trailer-offices will have two-way radios or telephones. And when not on duty, there will be an answering service. The telephone numbers will be posted. Efforts will be made to familiarize the job seeker with the Travelers Aid's willingness to help at all hours.

There will be pilot projects—the first of their kind. For such joint Travelers Aid-AFL-CIO mobile units, Perlis asked and has just received sufficient funds from the AFL-CIO Executive Council to supply Travelers Aid with two mobile social service offices.

After these hit the road, they will be able to telephone local doctors, hospitals, United States Employment Service headquarters, private job agencies, inexpensive rooming houses, family counseling agencies, emergency assistance offices such as the Red Cross—even agencies or unions which would be willing to aid with a small loan.

If the pilot projects are successful, this Operation Good Samaritan will spread across America's highways. Perhaps soon none of the uprooted, though strangers in a community, need suffer while in pursuit of their daily bread.

Odd Facts

The date for Easter was established by the Council of Nicea in A.D. 325. The council decided that Easter should be on the first Sunday following the Paschal full moon which happens upon or next after March 21. If the Paschal full moon falls on a Sunday, then Easter will be the following Sunday. The Paschal full moon is the 14th day of a lunar month reckoned according to an ancient ecclesiastical computation, and not the astrological full moon. Easter can fall anywhere from March 22 to April 25.

The well-known quotation, "Spare the rod and spoil the child," does not, as some people suppose, appear in the Bible. The nearest thing to it in the Bible is the following from the 13th Chapter of Proverbs: "He that spareth the rod hateth his son."

Program For Cuba

By David Lawrence

'Liberation' Plan Offered To Oust Castro

Strangely enough, a comprehensive plan that could really help to overthrow Castro and liberate Cuba has never been formally presented to the world by the United States.

In conformity with international law, and without involving in any way the use of American troops or invading armies from the outside, a plan could be devised that would appeal today to every man and woman on the island of Cuba. The expression of their concerted will could end the Castro regime.

The plan would cost money—maybe a half-billion dollars a year for five years or more. But that's a lot less expensive than the loss of human lives even in a "limited war." Besides, it could hardly provoke that awful "nuclear war" which is so often cited as the reason for American forbearance, if not timidity.

The "liberation" plan would require, first of all, the appointment by President Kennedy of a special commission of Americans familiar with the economic capacity and potential of Cuba.

The commission would make a detailed report recommending a broad-scale program for the rehabilitation of Cuba. This would spell out exactly how many new jobs would be created and what the probable range of wages would be for various types of workmen in Cuba.

THE PROGRAM would, of course, be basically agricultural and would outline the ways by which the whole Cuban farm industry could be rehabilitated and what this could mean to the average farmer. Cost figures, however, would be included for each segment of the economy.

The whole thing is in line with the fundamental principles of the Alliance for Progress scheme that has been so widely publicized.

When the "liberation" plan for Cuba is ready for announcement, it can be turned over to the U.S. Information Agency and its numerous outlets for radio broadcasting.

A detailed report, covering as many phases of Cuban economic life as possible, should be presented in Spanish to the Cuban people. It should be expressed in the simplest phrases, so that the average person in Cuba could quickly grasp what is really meant.

The mere announcement of the plan would cause a sensation inside Cuba, and the news of it would spread quickly over the island by word of mouth.

It will be asserted, the Cuban army has been trained by the Soviets, and is estimated at a strength of about 200,000. No revolutionist group is strong enough, it will be contended, nor in possession of adequate arms to do the job of defeating the Castro army.

This kind of argument assumes that a revolution in Cuba has to start with an organized revolutionary movement of substantial size. Actually, the most successful and far-reaching revolutions against autocracy in Europe and Latin America and Asia in recent years have come from inside the armed forces.

IN CUBA, the 200,000-man army is an integral part of a large population, and its members have relatives and friends throughout the island.

They are all aware of the suffering that prevails and the hopelessness of the future under Castro.

Given a chance to rescue their countrymen, this same standing army could quickly take charge and get rid of Castro. A whole army can suddenly shift its allegiance at the behest of a few officers.

Unfortunately, in recent months the Washington government's policies have created the impression inside Cuba that the United States is afraid to give Cubans any substantial help.

It's true that more than $50 million was raised to ransom the patriots who invaded Cuba in the Bay of Pigs episode, but the Cuban people now have been told that no raiders are to be permitted to go from American shores into Cuba. All this implies that there will be no help of a military nature forthcoming, either directly or indirectly.

It creates discouragement and certainly doesn't make Cubans feel they will be helped if they do rise against Castro.

THE ONLY way to take over the government of Cuba is from within and this depends on an aroused and unified public sentiment. Since economic difficulties are the most pressing at present, it is logical to expect that the Cuban people will be attracted by the publicized pledges of financial and economic assistance from the United States which the proposed plan would give them.

It would mean to them a chance for the free education of their children. It would open up a new era of hope for everybody.

As every individual translated the American economic plan into what it would mean to him and his family—the chance to earn decent wages and have a free government—public sentiment under a barrage of publicity would grow to such an extent that thousands in the army would themselves privately embrace it and seek ways to get a new government so that the American plan could be put into effect.

Without any plan at all for the future, and without a concrete offer of assistance of any kind from the United States—except some vague phrases in official utterances—the people of Cuba, and particularly the 200,000 men in the Cuban army, can see no future for their country.

That's why a plan that is repeated over the radio day after day could become the very weapon that would get rid of Castro as well as the Soviet troops.

The revolution would restore Cuba's place in the organization of American states and give it an opportunity to become a participant with the other Latin American countries in the Alliance for Progress.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I refer to your editorial on the eve of Holy Week, "Don't Tie Ohio's Hands."

It struck me as particularly ironic that at this, of all times, you should endorse the continuance of capital punishment. You note in your editorial that capital punishment "always should be there to bespeak society's wrath against the unconscionable act that cries out for the severest punishment."

Need I remind you that this has an uncanny similarity to the cry of the mob of two thousand years ago? Need I remind you that this was exactly how the best in society handled Jesus Christ? The society which so acted was represented by its best leadership acting in good conscience; that the law which passed sentence was one of the finest codes, one from which our own law derives?

What type of thinking motivates such an editorial I cannot be sure. It may be humanistic, it may be legalistic, but it certainly is not Christian in the true sense of the term. That is, it is not Christ-like. It represents neither His life, teaching nor person. An editorial which can state that anyone "forfeits all right to compassion" is a direct denial of Christ.

What is still more disturbing is the loose way of thinking that is evidenced. Who decides when murder is "particularly atrocious"? Why is a "premeditated attack on a police officer performing his duty" any worse than a premeditated attack on a newspaper editor, a clergyman, or an unemployed transient, for that matter? Come now!

That the number of executions has dropped since 1920 by reason of a capital punishment law indicates that it is possible to control men by fear and force and that perhaps the law has not been used in every instance. With the possibilities of confinement and rehabilitation, beeping up the parole system, is it necessary to use fear of death as a motive? Isn't this just exactly what we deery in other societies today?

'Blue Law' In Ohio

Ruled Constitutional
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Judge Joseph J. Harter of the Franklin County Common Pleas Court has declared the state's Sunday sales law constitutional.

He upheld the municipal court conviction of Lorena Jean Bush accused of operating a cash register in a supermarket. The judge said her work violated the Sunday sales law and rejected an appeal that the law was unconstitutional.

The current legislature is working on a new Sunday closing law for the state.

Fire Hits Basement At New Cumberland

NEW CUMBERLAND — Fire caused an estimated $50 damage in the basement of a two-story structure occupied by Squire John D. Herron and the Marion Chaney family Tuesday night at 6:45.

Faulty wiring was blamed, according to volunteer firemen who were summoned.

The Chaney family occupies the second story of the house and Squire Herron's office is on the first floor. The family investigated for a blown fuse when the electric supply failed, and discovered the basement in flames.

2,800 In Education Field Appeal To Rhodes For Funds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Representatives of virtually every segment of public education in Ohio have called on the Rhodes Administration to recommend immediately "sufficient appropriations to finance the recommended program of the State Board of Education."

More than 2,800 teachers, principals, superintendents, school board members and Parent-Teachers' representatives issued the call Tuesday night in a unanimously adopted resolution.

The action came at a meeting called by T. G. O'Keefe, executive secretary of the Ohio Education Association. The resolution also asked the General Assembly to increase taxes "in order to secure the necessary funds to finance public education and the other responsibilities of state government."

Rhodes, who has stuck by his "no new taxes" pledge since taking office three months ago, replied earlier to an accusation by O'Keefe that the governor reneged on a campaign pledge to increase school funds in the 1963-65 biennium by $130 million.

The governor said the funds he promised would have been available except for an alleged $80 million deficit left by the previous administration. He added that he expects the promised funds will be available in the 1965-67 biennium.

Rhodes in his executive budget called for an appropriation hike for schools of $45 million, which the OEA maintains would merely take care of costs boosted by enrollment expansions.

The State Board has advocated a $130 million increase for the 1963-65 biennium.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The number of claimants unemployed one week or more continues to decline, a Bureau of Unemployment Compensation report showed today.

In the category of continuing claims of those unemployed one week or more, the total dropped from 122,319 in the week ended March 30 to 114,312 in the week ended April 6.

In April of last year, an average of 13,258 new claims were filed each week. The average of continuing claims on file each week in that month last year was 99,895.

Fire Department Answers 5 Calls

Three grass fires, an overheated electric motor and a rescuator call kept city firemen busy Tuesday.

The first grass fire was at 11:09 a. m. on Idaho Ave. It was caused by sparks from trash being burned in a barrel, firemen said.

The next was at 3:56 p. m. at St. George and Central Sts. The blaze spread and set fire to an Ohio Power Co. pole.

A few minutes later, at 4:10 p. m., the firemen were called to the River Rd. to extinguish another grass fire on the right-of-way of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Both of these were blamed on passing locomotives, which apparently blew hot carbon out of the stack and into the dry grass.

Oxygen was administered to Gray Conner, 719 Lincoln Ave., at 5:48 p. m. after he became ill. A motor on a washing machine overheated and ignited at the Econo Wash laundry at 930 State St. Firemen were called at 7:41 p. m.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—An Ohioan who blamed "a bad marriage 12 years ago" for starting him to write bad checks has been sentenced to a 6-12 month jail term for writing bogus checks here last January.

George Holland, 54, Bridgeport, Ohio, pleaded guilty Tuesday to cashing six checks totaling $136.

Firm's Head Charged With Evading Taxes

CLEVELAND (AP)—Robert M. Corry, owner of the Corry Engineering, Construction and Supply Co., Gallon, and a former candidate for Congress, has been charged with evading $6,724 in income taxes in 1956.

That was the year Corry was unsuccessful Democratic candidate for congress in the 8th District.

His attorney, John Kennedy Lynch, said Corry spent nearly $20,000 in his campaign and thought the amount was a bona fide business expense.

The information filed by federal authorities charges Corry paid taxes of $1,431 on a declared income of $6,299.

Actually, the income was $24,536 and the tax total should have been $7,155, the IRS contends.

Corry was bound to the federal grand jury. He was freed under $1,000 personal bond.

Dunn, who previously served as president in 1959-60, succeeds Steve Barborak of West Point.

Elected trustees for two-year terms were Barborak, Frank Copestick of Lisbon R. D. 3 and Robert Osborn of Crestview Pl., East Liverpool. Holdover trustees are George Gaydos, Leslie Jones, Foyn Wright and James Gerace.

Officers will be installed at a special meeting Tuesday night.

Seventeen attended the meeting at which Dunn reported on a meeting of the Athletic Association held Monday night.

Dunn said the association approved a football budget of $7,000, including $1,683 for new equipment, discussed reconditioning of the baseball field at the Public School with transfer of a backstop from the high school to the Public School, and tabled action on whether a charge should be made for admission to baseball and track events.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anulis reported on ticket sales for a public smorgasbord dinner to be sponsored April 20. Dunn reported on plans for the annual spring festival June 3-8.

Martin Funeral Home

145 West Fifth Street Dial FU 5-3650 East Liverpool, Ohio

Dear friends,

What does a funeral cost? We can answer that very frequent question by saying that the family we serve always decides what the cost shall be. It is purely a matter of selection.

Where economy is desired, the costs can be kept within very normal limits. Regardless of selection, every modern facility we have is included in the service.

Information concerning prices is always available.

Respectfully,

Richard C. Martin

Ursu was a Democratic candidate for county engineer about two years ago.

In connection with a recent series of changes in Highway Department personnel, Don R. Gosney, county Democratic chairman, declared that they were motivated by politics as a result of the change - over from a Democratic to a Republican administration in January.

Gosney said he will question the recent appointment of Chester R. Whitehouse of East Palestine as county maintenance superintendent, replacing James DeLuce of Salem, who became a labor foreman.

Although the post given Whitehouse is under Civil Service the East Palestine man has violated regulations by continuing to serve as Council president in his home town and by remaining as a GOP candidate for a new term, Gosney charged.

More Study Due Planning Project

The possibility of establishing a Columbiana County planning program in connection with East Liverpool, Wellsville, Salem and Columbiana planning programs is to be explored further with representatives of the four cities.

About 18 attended a discussion Tuesday night at the Courthouse at which the proposed all-county planning commission was aired. Floyd Lower of Lisbon, chairman of the county planning committee, presided.

Lower explained a regional planning commission and organization can be formed if a village or city joins in the county program, which it is believed has some co-ordination advantages over separate city groups.

Pirates Nip Braves In 9th Inning, 3-2; Cincy Bows

By JIM BECKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

You can be pardoned for that feeling that this is where you came in.

The National League baseball pennant chase got under way in earnest Tuesday, and these were some of the results on the first full day of action:

Don Drysdale, a 25-game winner last year, won for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Jack Sanford, 24 wins, got the victory for the San Francisco Giants, as Willie Mays (49 last season), Orlando Cepeda (35), Felipe Alou (25) and Willie McCovey (20) homered.

Art Mahaffey, 19 wins, set down the hard-hitting Cincinnati Reds on four hits, for the Philadelphia Phils.

And the New York Mets, 120 losses last year, fell on their faces.

The scores were Los Angeles 5, Chicago Cubs 1; San Francisco 9, Houston 2; Philadelphia 2, Cincinnati 1, and the St. Louis Cardinals 7, New York Mets 0.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, who dropped the annual day-ahead opener Monday at Cincinnati to the Reds evened their record at 1-1 with a 3-2 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The Dodgers victory may have been costly. Shortstop Maury Wills, the league's Most Valuable Player last year, left after the sixth inning with a jammed left ankle and was doubtful for today's game with the Cubs.

Wills, who stole 34 bases last season, revealed before the game that he had become worried about his valuable legs, and had gone to a hypnotist during the winter to try to get the worries off his mind. Wills apparently hurt the ankle in the third inning when he was thrown out at the plate on a double play.

Drysdale gave up 11 hits but was helped by three double plays, as he won his sixth straight over the Cubs. The Dodgers broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth when Willie Davis tripled and scored on a balk by pitcher Larry Jackson, obtained in a winter trade from the Cards.

Rookie Ken McMullen iced the game with a two-run double in the ninth.

The Giants jumped off to a 6-0 lead at Houston. Cepeda's homer in the second opened the scoring and Sanford tripled home two runs in the same frame. Sanford weakened in the 90-degree heat and left in the sixth after giving up three straight singles. Jack Fasher, picked up in a trade with the Orioles, pitched hitless relief.

Mahaffey, the 24-year-old hard-throwing right-hander, had a two-hit shutout going into the ninth.

Frank Robinson opened that inning for the Reds with a single and moved to second on a ground out. Robinson scored when catcher John Edwards smashed a line double. Mahaffey then struck out Gene Freese and rookie Tom Harper to end the game, but only after Freese had missed a home run by a few feet foul.

Pokey Jay, 21-14 last season, also pitched well, giving up only five hits in the seven innings he worked. Three singles, with Don Demeter's coming with two out, scored the first Phillie run in the fourth.

In the sixth, John Callison doubled and scored when Cincinnati first baseman Gordie Coleman let a double play relay throw get through him for an error.

The Mets, the worst tenth-place team in history last year, opened with an almost entirely new cast, but the same old act. They fumbled and fozzled the ball in the field, and were woeful at bat, as Ernie Broglio set them down with two hits. Larry Burright got both a single in the first inning and a double in the ninth. At one stage, Broglio retired 20 Mets in a row.

A newcomer, third baseman Bob Bailey, whose bonus has been estimated in the $1750,000 area, sparked for the Pirates. He hit a homer and a crucial single. The Pirates won in the ninth off reliever Bob Hendley, when Bill Virdon singled with two out, and Bailey beat out a slow roller for a hit. Then pinch hitter Ted Savage struck the winning blow, a single. Elroy Face, who pitched out of a bases-loaded, none-out jam in the ninth, got the win in relief.

Tribe Hits Four; Grant Notches 1st

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians, with an assist from the Canadian Air Force and plan 5BX, are away winging, winning their opener with a four-homer salvo as the American League baseball season began to run full throttle.

Using "ballplayers nobody ever heard of," the Indians belted 20-game winner Camilo Pascual solidly Tuesday for a 5-4 opening day victory over Minnesota that had new Manager Birdie Tebbetts chirping.

Tebbetts borrowed the 11-minute calisthenic program labeled plan 5BX by the Canadian Air Force, and instituted it in spring training to get the Indians prepared for a quick getaway. There's no doubt his nobodies got away quick.

The nobodies included Jim Grant, who pitched a seven-hitter, and homer hitters Woodie Held, John Romano, rookie Max Alvis and newly acquired Fred Whitfield.

Said Tebbetts in somewhat of a challenge: "Cleveland has some ballplayers, but nobody ever heard of them. They will."

Joe Pepitone made himself heard for the New York Yankees, cracking two homers and a double in support of Ralph Terry's six-hit pitching as the world champions got started with an 8-2 triumph at Kansas City.

In other American League openers, the Chicago White Sox edged Detroit 7-5 behind newly acquired Pete Ward and Hoyt Wilhelm and the Los Angeles Angels defeated Boston 4-1 behind Ken McBride's four-hitter. Baltimore and Washington, who opened Monday, were not scheduled.

The Indians' first three runs came on solo homers by Romano in the second inning and Whitfield and Alvis in the fourth. Then, in the seventh with the score tied 3-3, Alvis led off with a double and Held crashed a 415-foot homer that put the game out of the Twins' reach. Grant was touched for solo homers by Lenny Green and Vic Power.

Pepitone's slugging paved the way for Terry, who received 13-hit support against a Kansas City team that seemed to have little going for it besides beautiful, tradition-breaking green and gold uniforms. Elston Howard also homered for the Yankees, tagging lower Diego Segui with one on in the fourth. Rookie Bill Bryan and newcomer Chuck Essigman connected for the A's.

Ward lined a three-run homer in the seventh inning off lower Jim Bunning, wiping out a 5-4 Detroit lead and Wilhelm came on and retired the last nine men in a row to protect Frank Baumann's victory. Both Ward and Wilhelm were acquired by the White Sox in an off-season trade with Baltimore. Gus Triandos, also acquired from the Orioles, homered for the Tigers.

The Angels wrapped it up against Red Sox starter Bill Moss, bouquet with a four-run fifth inning uprising capped by Lee Thomas three-run homer. The first run came across when Jim Fregosi reached second on a two-base throwing error by Ed Bresnahan and eventually scored on Billy Moran's single. Carl Yastrzemski's homer in the seventh broke up McBride's shutout bid.

Shaffer's Wins Tri-State Crown On First Try, Tops Higgs, 65-59

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Shaffer's Trucking of Wellsville went all the way in its first venture into the Tri-State tournament, by defeating Higgs Inn, 65-59, for the championship of the 38th annual event Tuesday night at Memorial Auditorium before a small gathering of about 200.

Shaffer's, which came out on top from a field of 16 teams that started the two-day tourney Monday, succeeds Joe's All-Stars of Akron as Tri-State champs. Joe's did not enter this year.

THE TRI-STATE crown was the third post season tournament won by Shaffer's this spring with other championships coming in the Wellsville Jaycee Tourney and the Dover tourney.

Higgs Inn and Shaffer's had hooked up on two other occasions in tournaments before last night and each time the winner has been the same.

Shaffer's annexed the title with a group of former Kent State University players plus Bob Greene who played for Akron U. this past season.

JIM MADDOX, voted the most valuable player of the tournament, sparked Shaffer's in the final game with a 19-point performance and a good all-around floor game.

Greene finished the evening with 15 points while Bevo Francis came on to score 12 markers and Walt Jones had 10.

The Wellsville entry moved out to a 33-30 halftime margin but the lead changed hands on several occasions in the second half.

SHAFFER'S didn't pick up any lead until the last three minutes of the contest. After gaining a five point advantage with about two minutes remaining, Shaffer's protected the margin from the foul line.

Three starters for Higgs Inn

ished in the double figures as Ed Fleming, former Niagara U. stand-out hit for 17, while Jim Betts and Herb Lake connected for 15 each.

TO GAIN the finals Shaffer's was forced to turn back a River-view Florists team, 71-65. River-view had loaded up for the semi-final game by bringing in Walt Mangham and Jim McCoy who played for the Pittsburgh Rens in the American Basketball League this past season before the loop folded.

However, McCoy ran into foul trouble and finally went out of the game on personals, but Mangham hit for 18 points in a losing effort.

SHAFFER'S came up with a well-balanced scoring punch plus the rebounding of Bevo Francis and Charlie Boykin to win the

Maddox Named MVP In Tri-State Tourney

Jim Maddox, a 6-foot guard for Shaffer's, carried away the most valuable player award for his fine all-around performance in the Tri-State Tournament Tuesday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Maddox, a former Kent State U. cager, led Shaffer's to the championship by scoring 19 points in the final games.

Team and individual trophies plus travel tickets to the all-tourney team were presented following the finals Tuesday.

Ed Fleming of Higgs Inn was high point man of the tourney with 61 markers in three games while Maddox also carried off the foul shooting award making 11 of 12.

A trophy for the most points scored in one game went to Ron semi-final fray. Green led the way with 17 while Boykin connected for 16. Dick Dennis and Maddox chipped in with 14 and 12 respectively.

Higgs Inn also had its work cut out for it in the semi-finals by defeating a good Francis White Insurance squad, 72-68. Fleming and Lake came through in fine style to pace Higgs in the semi-final game, each coming up with a 23-point effort.

Ron Galbreath, a Little All-American at Westminster two years ago, was the big gun for White's with 24 points, the top single scoring performance of the tournament.

Los Angeles Can Wrap Up West Crown

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Los Angeles Lakers will try again Thursday night to wrap up the Western Division playoff title which eluded them Tuesday against the St. Louis Hawks.

However, this time Elgin Baylor, Jerry West and Co. will have the home court advantage that seems to have made the difference thus far in the National Basketball Association best-of-seven series. The Lakers and Hawks have won three each at home.

The charm worked again Tuesday night as the Hawks spurted early and late for a 121-113 triumph.

Baylor scored 39 points and West 28 but they were wasted as the Hawks' bench came out to help veterans Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan.

The Lakers nearly overcame a 16-point deficit in the final moments to pull within three before Pettit and substitutes John Barnhill and Bill Bridges teamed up in a closing spree that clinched the contest. Barnhill hit 6 points and Bridges 7, and another sub, Mike Farmer, added 5.

Jack Nicklaus Named Honorary Governor

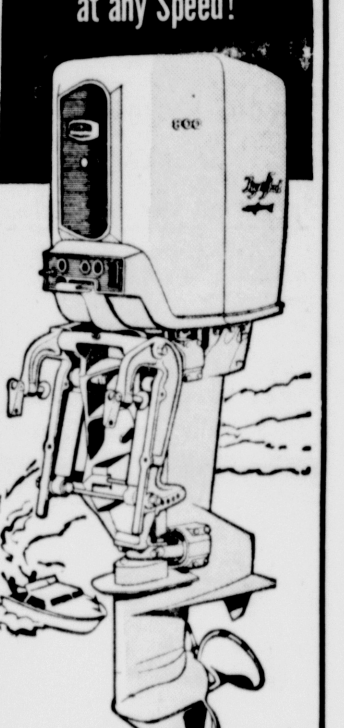

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Golfer Jack Nicklaus of Columbus, recent winner of the Master's championship, became honorary governor of Ohio today.

Gov. James A. Rhodes issued a proclamation and conferred the honor on the 23-year-old Nicklaus in a brief Statehouse ceremony.

"I'm very proud," Nicklaus said as his wife, Barbara, and father, Charles Nicklaus, a pharmacist, looked on.

Ex-Buc Gets 3 Hits Opening Day

Everything Good Happens To Groat In Polo Grounds

NEW YORK (AP) — Critics of Dick Groat who claim the St. Louis Cardinal shortstop has slowed down can never make a case for themselves by his Polo Grounds performances.

The balding shortstop, who seems to rise to his greatest heights at the fabled old park, put on his usual brilliant show Tuesday as the Cardinals ruined the Mets' home opener with a 7-0 victory behind the two-hit pitching of Ernie Broglio. Groat, traded by Pittsburgh to St. Louis last winter because "he has lost a step or two," figured prominently in two scoring rallies against Roger Craig. Besides cracking three hits and scoring twice, the ex-Duke athlete played faultlessly in the field.

"It will be a sad day for me when they tear down the Polo Grounds," Groat grinned.

"This park is just too much. Everything good has happened to me here.

"I played my first professional game here back in 1952. I got my first big league hit and my first home run here. I also played in the last game here before the Giants moved to San Francisco.

"Most important, I met my wife right in this park."

Wellsville, N. Hancock To Meet In Basketball

Wellsville basketball fans who like weekend games will probably be well pleased with the Tiger schedule for 1963-64.

In line with a state recommendation, the school has eliminated all Tuesday games or on other week nights. The Tigers in the new season will play only on Fridays and Saturdays.

The slate for next season is evenly balanced, showing nine games for Beacom Memorial gym and nine on the road.

There are three new opponents, Northern Hancock, Jefferson Union and Springfield Local. With the addition of the latter two, the Tigers will be playing a full round in Buckeye Border League competition.

Dropped from the slate were Chester, Weirton Madonna, Pittsburgh Central Catholic and West Branch.

Wellsville, a 146 club last season, opens the new campaign Dec. 6 in an away game with Lisbon.

The new schedule:

United High's Football, Cage Mentors Dismissed

The Board of Education in the United School District today began accepting applications for three coaching positions after Ray Russell, head football coach, Larry Joseph, head basketball coach, and Neile Clarke, Junior High School mentor, were dismissed.

According to members of the board, the three coaches were dismissed "in the best interests of the United athletic program."

Executive Head Chester Bratigan said "nobody likes a losing team and it seems that in neither major sport was United able to produce a winning team."

Russell has been head coach in football since the school began playing the sport six years ago. His record in that time was 63 wins and 64 defeats.

As basketball coach for three years, Joseph had a 30-34 record. In his first year, the Golden Eagles showed a 6-12 mark but went on to win six straight tournamet games before being eliminated in the regionals.

Clarke had served only one year as Junior High coach.

At United head coaches receive $500 plus their teaching salaries.

4 Quarterbacks Due At Browns July Camp

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns will have four passers for the July "quarterback camp" at Hiram, the latest entry being Jerry Gross of the University of Detroit.

The Browns announced Tuesday that Gross, a solid passer who was passed over in the draft selections because of his size, had been signed as a free agent. He's 5-foot-10 and weighs 170 pounds.

In addition to veterans Jim Ninowski and Frank Ryan, Gross will be joined at the Hiram camp by Jon Anabo, a left-handed passer from Fresno State.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

The invigorating sunny days have brought out fishermen of both sexes. And all have seemed to be in a carnival mood.

There were quite a few fishing at Kuyper's Landing at Lake Guilford and the crappies were cooperating in certain spots last Saturday and Sunday. The favored spot was the small space where the culvert enters under the roadway to a little bay on the west side. Three young men had the spot sewed up and were landing crappies from as little as they come upward to 11 inches.

MANY FISHERMEN had their eyes on the spot, hoping the young men would move out so they could move in. One fisherman suggested they had better be getting home and get dressed for the dance. All kinds of wisecracks were made. Another suggested they give them a dime so they could go get a bottle of pop.

Nothing doing. They might be young but the crappies were biting and dancing, pop, or any other kind of suggestions went by the wayside.

Even I got in the act. When I came upon the scene I said in a loud voice, "The game warden is here and in a very good humor today so everybody produce their fishing license." It went over real good. All I had to do was walk down the line and everybody had them ready for inspection.

The thing I really appreciated was the cheerful cooperation I got. They all had their licenses and I left everybody smiling. That is the way I hope things will be all season long.

THIS PROBABLY will be my last year as the local game protector. At least I want it this way and will have a short time now to make my final decision, which depends on a few loose ends that must be solved.

I am 66 years old and firmly believe the old guys should step aside and give the younger generation a chance in times like the present.

I'm a salaried person and not the owner of the firm, which is different. Sometimes, people with a lot of money invested have to stay with the firm regardless of age.

Y Presents Trophy

'Swims' To Pittsburgh

You can have the 50 - mile walks. How about a 48 - mile swim?

Howard Mader of Chester is shown receiving a trophy from Carl A. Werner, general secretary of the YMCA, after swimming 4,244 lengths of the "Y" pool in a contest to have members swim at least a mile in a Pittsburgh - to - East Liverpool contest. The contest was launched in February to emphasize swimming and was open to all members of the "Y."

But Mader was the only one to complete the entire distance, requiring less than two months. Greg Manning managed five miles.

Some 275 others received ribbons for swimming at least a mile or 88 lengths while a few younger boys still are swimming to earn their medals.

Werner said an equal number of ribbons have been distributed to those who complete a mile on the Y's track.

Blind Negro Due To Lead Another Demonstration

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Blind Negro singer Al Hibbler said he would lead another racial demonstration in Birmingham today because "police segregated me from my own yesterday and would not arrest me."

"That is segregation to its highest level," he told about 350 Negroes attending a rally Tuesday night.

Hibbler was picked up as he marched in front of a downtown department store. After he identified himself, he was released with an apology.

Police arrested 20 Negro demonstrators and a white man who identified himself as Carl Keith of Evanston, Ill. Keith said he is a pacifist.

The arrests Tuesday brought the total in the 7-day-old integration campaign to 112.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, another leader of the integration movement, and Abernathy said they would not demonstrate today.

"Since they wouldn't arrest Mr. Hibbler, we're going to give him another chance," he said. "Our day has been set back until Thursday."

Hibbler told the rally other Negro entertainers are coming to Birmingham to aid in the desegregation campaign.

"It's going to be two blind cats and a wildcat—Ray Charles, Al Hibbler and Sammy Davis Jr.," he said.

A note of thanks was received from the Citizens Scholarship Foundation for the recent contribution made by Frank C. Dawson in the chapter's behalf.

U.N. Would Safeguard Peace

Pope John Makes Plea For End To Arms Race

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII appealed today for an end to the arms race and for the United Nations to be given the structure and means to safeguard world peace.

In an encyclical titled "Pacem in Terris" (Peace on Earth), the pontiff called for reduction of arms stockpiles, a ban on nuclear weapons and a general agreement eventually on "progressive disarmament and an effective method of control."

The Pope warned that the "contagion" of war "may be set off by some uncontrollable and unexpected chance."

He added:

"Even though the monstrous power of modern weapons acts as a deterrent, it is to be feared that the mere continuance of nuclear tests, undertaken with war in mind, will have fatal consequences for life on the earth."

The Pope called for the deterrent of arms equality to be replaced by universal acceptance of the fundamental principle "that the true and solid peace of nations consists not in equality of arms but in mutual trust alone."

Writing as the "vicar on earth of Jesus Christ" and as "interpreter of the very profound longing of the entire human family," the pontiff beseeched "especially those who have the responsibility of public affairs to spare no labor in order to ensure that world events follow a reasonable and human course."

Pope John indicated he hoped the United Nations eventually might become a strong world authority. But he did not specifically mention what peace-keeping means it should have at its disposal, such as a police force.

He said:

"A public authority having worldwide power and endowed with the proper means for the efficacious pursuit of its objective, which is the universal common good in concrete form, must be set up by common accord and not imposed by force."

But the pontiff said nations were "right in not easily yielding in obedience to an authority imposed by force, or to an authority in whose creation they had no part, or to which they themselves did not decide to submit by conscious and free choice."

Pope John said a supra-national world authority must be considered because national leaders in the modern world are "on a footing of equality" and are "no longer capable of facing the task of finding an adequate solution to the problems."

"It is our earnest wish," the Pope continued, "that the United Nations—in its structure and in its means—may become ever more equal to the magnitude and nobility of its tasks, and that the day may come when every human being will find therein an effective safeguard for the rights which derive directly from his dignity as a person, and which are therefore universal, inviolable and inalienable rights."

"This is all the more to be hoped for since all human beings, they take an ever more active part in the public life of their own political communities, are showing an increasing interest in the affairs of all peoples, and are becoming more consciously aware that they are living members of a world community."

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruze —

DEAR HELOISE: We never have enough skirt and trouser hangers so I take generous sections of newspaper and roll them around the bottom of our wire hangers. This can be secured either with string or scotch tape.

These rolls of paper can be covered with wall paper scraps or adhesive-backed paper. I make the rolls about three inches in diameter on each hanger. It does the best job of eliminating creases at the fold line (especially on men's trousers) that I have ever used and the cost is practically nil.

When you buy bath soap in those economical three or four bar packages, unwrap them all and place a bar here and there in a towel closet. The towels will absorb the soap's fragrance. Another advantage is that when the children are in the bathtub and leave the soap in the water so long, it does not soften as quickly, and saves lots of waste.

COCO HARRINGTON

DEAR HELOISE: How to make salads cold and crisp? Easy.

First I store my lettuce completely wrapped in a damp towel, but it is always left in the refrigerator, and when I redampen the towel I use ice water!

Second (and this is important), is the ridiculously little simple trick that takes no extra time but does require a little careful planning beforehand:

Well, before serving the salad, I place the bowl, tossing spoons and salad plates in my refrigerator so they will be thoroughly chilled when used.

I make my salad dressing early and put that in the refrigerator—so it will be cold too and so I won't have to make it at the last moment when everybody is ready to sit down.

Tomatoes and other ingredients are pre-peeled, sliced and placed in another bowl in the refrigerator. The purpose of all this hocus-pocus, and the secret of success of the salad is to leave the lettuce wrapped in its towel until the very last second. Then . . . simply take it out, tear it apart and dump in the chilled bowl, adding the chilled salad dressing, seasonings, tomatoes, etc. and toss briefly and then serve.

GEORGE SCHMIDT

DEAR HELOISE: Please, please . . . how does one get mildew and mold (at least that's what it looks like) off bamboo blinds? We use these throughout our house (as do many of our neighbors).

Some neighbors put them on their porch to eliminate the evening sun but . . . they also mildew! It seems that when this type of blind is used inside or out, that mildew always comes. I sure will appreciate some other coffee friend letting us in on her secret.

MRS. WILLIAM CAROLE

DEAR HELOISE: I am a cripple and I must soak my legs several times a day in the bathtub. My sweet husband fixed a "desk" to put across the tub for me to work on because I felt I was wasting time.

He used a simple wide board and put bumpers underneath it to keep it from sliding on the tub. These bumpers are covered with foam rubber cut from an old ironing board pad.

Another thing my husband made is a large tray that slides onto the arms of my wheel chair. It is big enough and sturdy enough to even hold the typewriter, yet, I can go through the doorways and down the hallway with it.

For small things try a plastic litter bag slipped over the brake handle on the wheel chair. Wonderful.

BARBARA KRAFT

DEAR HELOISE: For those who have leaky milk cartons, may I suggest that they cut little squares of foil a few inches larger than the bottom of the carton itself and place the carton on this and gently allow it to come up around the sides of the milk carton and crush it with their fingers?

These little "cups" need not be wasted. They can be used over and over again . . . just in case!

MRS. U. BURRELL

Wellsville Will Ease Outdoor Burning Ban

The ordinance prohibiting outdoor burning in Wellsville will be lifted for 20-days, beginning today, to permit residents to clear away the winter accumulation of yard and garden debris, according to Mayor William W. Daugherty.

The ban will be lifted until Tuesday, April 30.

The mayor pointed out householders should use extreme caution in burning.

Persons burning refuse are responsible if the fire gets out of control and does any damage. No garbage is allowed to be burned.

Residents also are warned against burning leaves on black-top streets. The heat damages the material.

Lisbon Car Damaged In Collision With Deer

The front end of a Lisbon man's car was damaged early Tuesday when he struck and injured a deer on Route 30 about a half mile north of Apples Corners.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Dempsey E. Myers, 44, of Pritchard Ave. was driving north in a 1959 station wagon when the deer ran from the east side of the road into the path of the vehicle. The mishap occurred at 12:10 a. m.

Myers told officers the deer was lying on its side when he left the site to telephone the patrol, but was gone when he returned. The animal apparently wandered off.

Steel Supplies May Get Tight, Iron Age States

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel supplies may get tight and there's even talk of allocations on some products in the face of growing demand, Iron Age magazine said today.

Inventory building against a possible strike and stronger general demand have pushed production successively higher for 10 weeks.

The trade magazine said some mills are warning sales offices to guard against overbooking in May suggesting concern that demand may tax capacity.

Delivery dates on traditionally tight products are being pushed back, the publication said.

At the same time, it said, steel is being used at a higher rate and this could prevent inventory building from reaching the size in the second quarter that some have predicted.

Is There Life After Death?

Meaning Of Immortality, Resurrection Reviewed

(Human life exists in space and time. But does it continue to exist beyond space and time—after what we know as death? Viewing this question as a problem in logic, the Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Kepler outlines three philosophical arguments and possible answers. This is an excerpt from Dr. Kepler's book, "The Meaning and Mystery of the Resurrection".

By DR. THOMAS S. KEPLER

Modern Christian man who believes in the continuity of life beyond the experience of death, whether it be that of the immortality of the soul or the resurrection of the body, resorts to a number of solid arguments to establish his faith.

Mainly he looks at the nature of God, called "Father" by our Lord, whose qualities of mercy and wisdom make it obligatory for God never to annihilate the immortal nature of his children. If this God is both moral and full of grace, immortality is a necessary postulate.

Secondly, the experience of the human race, especially as seen through expressions of the great world religions, has shown the universal belief and hope of man's eternal nature. Different religious cultures hold diverse views of life after death; but the common belief and hope are nevertheless there.

THE CONSERVATION of values in the universe is a third argument which has convinced some of life's eternal continuity.

If energy is conserved in the universe, how much more necessary is it that minds of men be conserved, if this be a rational universe, runs the argument. Especially if the universe is encompassed by the Spirit of God, such a preservation of values in terms of personalities is presupposed.

If man, after his years of struggle to achieve purpose and meaning, is destroyed at death, one could only cry out, "What infinite waste!" Hence from the purpose of man's creation, is deduced the assurance of his immortality.

Along with the arguments of God's merciful purpose for man making immortality obligatory, the Christian holds the resurrection of Jesus in the New Testament as his cardinal argument for belief in life after death. For many this argument is all-sufficient for faith in life continuing beyond the grave.

As modern man speaks of "life after death," he occasionally uses terms such as "immortality" and "resurrection" as synonyms, employing them interchangeably. The two terms, however, in their original usage have different connotations.

"IMMORTALITY" belongs to Greek thought and relates to the fact that the soul continues its existence apart from the body after the body dies. The soul belongs to the eternal world, while the body belongs to the temporal world.

Immortality is thus not so much a gift from God as an accomplishment of man and deals with man's emancipation from his temporal body. Hence "immortality" is not a term used in the New Testament, for the focusing point of New Testament thought is that of the bodily "resurrection" of Jesus, not the mere survival of his soul after his bodily death.

The resurrection of Jesus and of "everyman" is a gift of God, who in the life beyond the grave gives man another body, namely one that is "glorified" or "spiritual."

New Testament thought never conceives man's continuity beyond the grave apart from some kind of "body."

Immortality and the resurrection have one characteristic in common, according to Ian T. Ramsey:

"At the outset let us recognize that all doctrines of a future life, whatever their variety, are alike in one important respect. They all arise as so many versions of one answer to a general logical problem which everyone who formulates religious language must face. The problem is this. In acknowledging any religious topic whatever, we acknowledge something which exceeds spatio-temporal."

THE RESSURRECTION of Jesus as a "mystery" left its influence upon men living in the spatio-temporal world of Jesus' day. In the centuries which followed, however, it was an event which was grasped by "faith - knowledge" rather than by empirical knowledge.

Men themselves do not contain the quality of deathlessness, but must receive it as a gift from God if they are to overcome the destructive power of death (I Cor. 15:53-4). Jesus Christ's death and resurrection have shown man a hope and a way by which the corruption of his human life has been effectively overcome (II Tim 1:10; Rom. 11:7).

While the Christian man to a large degree "earns" the award of eternal life by asserting his faith in Christ, the greater meaning for man's inheritance of eternal life is through God's grace extending him this gift.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS
Your Special Resources Help Child

If you are a parent of a school child beyond the first few years at school, you may have resources you never dreamed of for helping him succeed at his schoolwork. To this end, you need not be a college graduate, a graduate from high school, or even with schooling beyond the third or fourth grade. You or Dr. Garry Meyers' chief resources are your appreciation of him as a person, your deep interest in what he learns at school and your desire to learn with him. As soon as he begins to do homework, you can guide him at being home and going at it promptly and faithfully in a favorable family atmosphere. You can encourage him to do all his written work neatly and carefully, keep him from ever spelling it wrong.

What he's pretty sure to do without the guidance is to study the word once while looking at it, then look away and try to spell it, often spelling it wrong. He will hurry to the next item and do likewise.

YOUR GENIUS will consist of causing him to make enough correct repetitions while looking right at the word to make sure he masters its correct spelling and so never requiring him from ever spelling it wrong. Refuse to pronounce the words for him to spell until you feel certain he has mastered their spelling. Unless you do, you practice him in wrong habits of study, in repeating mistakes. You can't learn them for him; he must learn them himself.

Apply this same principle with your child in all the short items he will need to memorize and remember during all his life. My bulletins, "Help Child With Lessons At Home" and "Helping Your Child Succeed At School," may be secured by sending a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of The Review.

Anniversary Of Price Clash

'Big Steel Battle' Wounds Deep, Stitches Still Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The wounds from the "Big Steel battle" were deep and the stitches still show.

While businessmen have gingerly accepted the Kennedy administration's peace offerings, they keep a wary eye on the smoke signals.

Tuesday night, on the eve of the first anniversary of the clash over steel prices, there was a new puff on the horizon. Wheeling Steel Corp. announced it will raise, as of today, the price of several of its steel products.

There was no reaction from the White House.

Since that furious struggle a year ago, President Kennedy has gone far toward repairing his relations with business — although he'll never turn Wall Street into a Democratic precinct, and never expected to.

Many industrialists who now are cashing in on the $2.5 billion of benefits from Kennedy's 1962 tax program — benefits that went to business exclusively — do admit nowadays that he can't be all bad.

President Ladd Plumley of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce told The Associated Press that Kennedy showed "manifest interest in the private sector of our economy" after the steel blow-up.

But he made it clear that there is no second honeymoon for Kennedy and business.

The patching-up of relations began to come unstuck in January, Plumley said, because of Kennedy's big spending budget, the costly dock strike settlement, and what Plumley called a hedge-pole tax reduction plan whose business benefits, in his opinion, were a little and too long deferred.

The U.S. chamber leader added: "The President said this was not the winter of his discontent. For businessmen, it has been the winter of our disappointment."

Plumley's disappointment is matched in other, and more serious, quarters. Kennedy's good friends in organized labor have grown restive about what they consider his preoccupation with profits, incentives and investment.

Some administration aides, eager for more works, welfare and education programs, have had to be cooled off with the promise that Kennedy will get around to their causes after he "gets the country moving again."

Roger M. Blough, board chairman of the United States Steel Corp., ran afoul of Kennedy's wrath April 10, 1962, when he dropped into the White House to announce a $5 a ton increase in the price of steel.

The increase came on the heels of the smallest wage settlement the United Steelworkers Union had signed in years and after Kennedy made personal pleas to both sides to hold the wage and price lines. Other leading steelmakers quickly upped their prices to match "Big Steel."

The outraged Kennedy countered with a public denunciation of what he called their "unjustifiable and irresponsible defiance of the public interest." He mobilized an awesome array of government pressures, including the threat of antitrust action and the withholding of government contracts.

In 72 hours the once-solid front of the steel titans craved. Two important producers, Inland and Kaiser, refused to join the price parade. The industry leaders were forced to rescind.

Famous Pianist Dies

LONDON (AP)—Benno Moiseiwitsch, 73, one of the world's masters of the piano, died Tuesday after a short illness. As a concert pianist he had made more than 20 visits to North America as well as trips to Australia, the Far East, South America, South Africa and most of the European continent. He was born in Odessa, Russia, and became a British citizen in 1937.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Progress Varies On Reducing Diet

On a low calorie diet many overweight people find it difficult to keep weight at the beginning of the diet. The difference is in water which has also been stored. And since stored water weighs more than fat, when it, too, is released from the body, it's small wonder the indicator on the scales reports such good news to the dieter.

As a rule, the more overweight you are, the more you may lose at the beginning of your diet — five or even seven pounds the first week is not at all unusual. A fast initial weight loss is just the opposite of what happens when there is water retention at the outset. Some overweight people on a low calorie diet fail to lose a single pound the first week or so. In fact, the scales may show a gain!

With these dieters, as fat is lost, water is stored in the tissues and not until the water balance is restored will the lost fat register on the scales. However, when the water is finally released, as it must be, the indicator will plunge with seeming suddenness.

Driver Given Term In Jail, Fine Of $200

R. F. Faudree, 325 3rd St., Chester, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to five days in jail today in Municipal Court when he switched his plea from innocent to guilty on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff did not suspend the defendant's driver's license, but cautioned it can be used only to drive to and from his job at the Midland Works of the Crucible Steel Co. or to the Cleveland Clinic for continued treatment.

Faudree was cited Monday night following a collision between his auto and a truck on Dresden Ave. at Trentvale St.

He was not prosecuted on a second charge which accused him of failure to yield at least half the highway to an oncoming vehicle.

After Faudree switched his plea, Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark related to the court some of the details of the police department's report of the crash and statements about the driver's physical condition.

Judge Chertoff ruled that Faudree will be given credit on the jail sentence for the time he has spent behind bars awaiting a hearing. Faudree had pleaded not guilty at arraignment yesterday and his hearing had been set for Monday at 9 a. m.

In a statement to the court today, Faudree reiterated that he was ill, not intoxicated, at the time of his arrest.

He said he spent the day at the Cleveland Clinic for internal X-rays, consuming a quantity of barium as part of the procedure. He said he took one drink of whisky shortly after leaving the hospital "to settle my nerves" and stopped along the way for a second drink. Faudree said he was "deadly sick" as a result of drinking the barium.

The judge recalled that Faudree was in the local court on a plain intoxication charge within the last two weeks "and you didn't use the barium story then."

Legion Asks Penalty Stay At Salineville

LISBON — An appeal against a 70-day suspension of the liquor license ordered for the Salineville American Legion Post 442 has been filed in Common Pleas Court on grounds the suspension would cause undue hardship and damage.

The Ohio Department of Liquor Control last week ordered the suspension effective Thursday on grounds the post in 1961 violated a pinball machine regulation.

The Board of Liquor Control charged the post with possession of a device used in giving things of value — free games — June 16, 1961.

Atty. Charles Kaps of Columbus, representing the post, filed for a stay of suspension order, claiming that unless the suspension is lifted, the post "will suffer undue hardship, injury, harm and damages to its business and property."

The appeal of the board's ruling is based on claims it is not supported by reliable and substantial evidence and not in accordance with law, that the order is an abuse of discretion, and other errors in record.

No date has been set by Assignment Commissioner Norman Ward for a hearing on the appeal against the suspension due to begin tomorrow.

ABC-TV Picks Moore As Firm's President

NEW YORK (AP)—Thomas W. Moore has been elected president of the American Broadcasting Co. television network.

Announcement of Moore's election was made Tuesday by Leonard H. Goldenson, president of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theaters Inc.

Moore started his television career in 1952 as an account executive for the Columbia Broadcasting System. He was appointed ABC-TV vice president in charge of sales in 1957, and in 1958 became vice president in charge of programming.

Columnist's Wife Dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Charlene Cassini, 38, wife of Igor Cassini recently indicted society columnist died Tuesday from an apparent overdose of a barbiturate, police reported. Her husband, who for years wrote the "Cholly Knickerbocker" column for the Journal-American and other newspapers, was indicted on charges of failing to register as a foreign agent for the Trujillo regime of the Dominican Republic. She was Cassini's third wife.

SUGARDALE'S

Semi-Boneless Ham

Whole 55¢ lb.

They're skinless, shankless, and de-fatted—to give you 20% more good eating. Easier to carve, too, because only the tiny main bone remains. It's no wonder these modern hams are growing in popularity.

The semi-boneless ham was heated and glazed but not scored before the simulated tulips were arranged on the surface. The tulips were made from a lemon, spearmint flavored gumdrop leaves, and green pepper. First, the lemon was cut in half lengthwise and then in half crosswise. The lemon pulp and white membrane were removed, leaving only the thin outer surface of the lemon rind. Each tulip was made by cutting V-shaped pieces from the straight edge. The tulip was pressed into the glaze and anchored to ham with a whole clove. A narrow strip of green pepper was placed at the base of each tulip blossom for the stem. The green gumdrop leaves were split in half. Two leaves, with cut surface up, were arranged on each stem.

Rotary Hears Principal

Retarded School Operations Told

Existing presently on voluntary donations, the Elktion Retarded Children's School is looking forward to the first funds from a county tax to finance costs of transportation, supplies and instructors. Mrs. Edith Martsof, principal, told the Rotary Club Tuesday.

County residents last year approved on first request a four-tenths mill levy to finance operations of the consolidated school for persons of sub-normal intelligence and reduced capacity for learning.

MRS. MARTSOLF said the first levy funds are due now and will be welcomed in light of the fact that the school was forced to borrow funds against the anticipated revenue in order to pay for transportation.

Four station wagons, which average 80 miles daily, are used to transport 46 persons from throughout the county to the rural school.

A junior at Youngstown University and a native of Tennessee, Mrs. Martsof explained operations of the school at the club's meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

Expressing both the view of an instructor and of a mother of a retarded child, she spoke in glowing terms of classroom accomplishments by students who may be of adult age chronologically but never be over 7 mentally.

EDUCATION in its broadest sense is considered in training the retarded, not "book knowledge," the principal declared. "Academically, they will never achieve anything beyond the first half of the first grade," she added.

"Why do we have retarded persons?" Mrs. Martsof asked. "There is no ironical reasons, it can happen in well educated families as well as in illiterate families," she said. "It is a happenstance."

The principal declared that only feeble mindedness is a product of heredity. There are over 100 known causes of brain damage and retardation, and the National Association for Retarded Children has discovered that mental retardation has nothing to do with pregnancy, she pointed out.

"IT HAPPENS at conception, with duplication of chromosomes. In the future we may be warned through extensive blood research," she said. She described as "untrue" reports that misuse of forceps at birth causes brain damage. High fever or German measles can be the cause, "but there are many reasons," she said.

Mrs. Martsof pointed out that of every 1,000 persons born in Ohio, two are blind, three have polio, four are afflicted with cerebral palsy, seven have rheumatic fever and 30 are mentally retarded.

One of four instructors at the school, Mrs. Martsof teaches a class of 12. The classes are "three hours of routine, relaxation and repetition," she said. She added there is no place in the classroom for frustration. Her pupils are the younger ones, ranging in age from 6 to 8.

RETARDED persons are sent on to sheltered workshops after reaching 21 years and learn to perform assembly line work like folding papers for mailing house envelopes. "They do one thing well, a second thing only half the time," she said.

Mrs. Martsof said many of the students can read, but their comprehension is limited. Of the 46 students at the school, 11 have absolutely no speech, one is a deaf mute. "They first must learn to identify flash cards reading 'bathroom' or 'water' and learning to identify the words is a very difficult, tedious process," she said.

The instructors strive to teach good eating habits, co-ordination, cleanliness, independence, good posture, social respect for others, self control, good manners, immediate obedience and personal adaptation — learning to accept that they are different from others, Mrs. Martsof explained.

THE SCHOOL'S motto is "Retarded children grow because of us, normal children grow regardless of us," she said. "We are helping them to become an asset to the community, rather than a liability."

Until last year, the school existed on allocations from the County Welfare Department and fund campaigns, the best producing $6,000.

In January last year, county commissioners advised that there were no funds available for operation in September 1962. The State Welfare Department also slashed its per-pupil contribution from $350 to $250 to $200 or less. The school was later forced to obtain a loan against the expected revenue from the four-tenths mill levy to remain in operation, the principal said.

MRS. MARTSOLF is secretary of the state association, first from this area to serve in that post. The other instructors and their classes are Mrs. Ruth Diddle, 10 to 12 years; Mrs. Virginia Biggins, 13 to 15, and Mrs. Charles Southall, 16 to 21.

According to the principal, the minimum amount needed to operate the school for one year is $26,000.

The speaker was introduced by Ralph A. Finley, vice president. Dr. C. Marvin Kinsey, program chairman, was unable to be present. Sidney C. Porter Jr., president, presided.

Wellsville Crew Pushes Ahead In Work On Streets

Work of street cleaning and slugging of alleys is continuing in Wellsville, according to Safety Service Director Fred Baldasare, who said he will attempt to set up a regular schedule for the sweeper once all the streets have been cleaned.

The sweeper will be used today from 4 p. m. to midnight on Center St. from 9th to 15th Sts. and from 17th and Main Sts. to Clark Ave.

Commerce St., Broadway, Main St. and Riverside Ave. have been covered. The area being cleaned will be posted and motorists are warned against parking along the curb. Residents also are asked to clean their sidewalks before the sweeper passes.

The cleaning of the park area on Broadway was completed yesterday. Slugging of alleys from 13th St. east should be completed today or Thursday.

The director said he has assigned one man to check all the water and sewer lines in the city to make sure they are in good condition.

Wellsville Red Cross Campaign Hits $1,054

The annual Red Cross fund drive in Wellsville has reached $1,054.37 with the completion of the house-to-house canvass. The city goal is $2,852.

The drive officially ended March 30, but many divisions have not yet reported.

The house-to-house campaign resulted in a total of $481.32. This exceeds the 1962 canvass which netted $462.50.

Mrs. Myron Weis was chairman with Mrs. Earl Hossler co-chairman. Some 18 area captains and 100 workers participated in this phase of the campaign.

Commissioner Aide Named By District Boy Scout Group

aquatics director are needed. Any adult interested may notify him or Gray.

Rossi, vice chairman, presided. Don Ramsey reported on re-registration of units, and Rossi reported on the Explorer Scout program. Milton Reese expressed appreciation for units which aided at the scout booth at the Home Show last week.

Don Theiss reported a junior leader training session will be held May 3-4.

The District Roundtable will meet tonight at 7:30 at the YMCA.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband died a few years ago and I was left with two little boys. I married a fine man and we now have a son whom we call J.R. The problem is my husband's mother.

She showers J.R. with attention and completely ignores the other children. I can understand her feelings since J.R. is her only grandchild, but she goes out of her way to remind my two older boys that he is special. They just stand around and stare when grandma helps J.R. unwrap the lovely gifts she has brought for him.

My husband refuses to talk to his mother about this. I desperately need some advice. Can you help?—HOUSTON.

Dear Houston: Children do not attach as much importance to gifts as adults think. To them it is a momentary joy soon forgotten. It's how you treat children—day in and day out—that gives them a sense of security and well-being.

Of course, grandma's show of favoritism is thoughtless and mean, but it will have no lasting effect on the older boys (except that they are likely to despise her).

If it will make you feel better, have some gifts wrapped and ready in the closet. When granny arrives with a present for J.R. hand the older boys a gift from you and dad.

Teasing Problem

Dear Ann: I came here recently from Ireland and am faced with a problem. I am staying in the home of American friends and am encountering, for the first time, the American tea bag.

What is a person supposed to do with the tea bag after it has been used? It seems uncouth to place the soggy, disreputable thing on the saucer. One cannot leave it in the cup as the tea becomes too brisk.

I have searched for the answer in books on American etiquette but can find nothing. Can you help?—ISLE OF ERIN.

Dear Erin: Tea bags are a great convenience, but guests should not have to figure out what to do with them.

The tea bags should be used in the kitchen and then removed. No guest should be burdened with this do-it-yourself project.

She's No Baby

Dear Ann: I am 13 years old. I don't smoke, swear, rat my hair, wear white lipstick or eyeshadow, sass my teachers or stay out late. All I want is a little privacy in my own home.

The family bathroom is on the other side of my room, so everybody walks right through at all hours of the day or night. Nobody ever knocks. My brothers and my father always manage to break in when I am dressing or undressing and it is very embarrassing.

If I could have just a little hook on the door to use only when I need privacy I would be grateful. My father says this is foolish. He claims I am still a baby and am making a big fuss over nothing. Mom said to write to you and get your opinion. Please say yes.—OPEN HOUSE.

Dear Open House: As a matter

TV Rating Probe Leaves Issue Unsolved

After five weeks of rather comic testimony before a congressional committee, the fallibility of TV ratings now must be obvious to everyone.

The point is, what's to be done about them?

The TV industry always has known that Mr. Nielsen's automatic gadgets weren't numerous enough or reliable enough to be an adequate gauge of TV audiences. Two stock alibis have been used by TV executives and Madison Avenue ad agencies to ward off previous attacks on ratings: (1) We don't rely on ratings alone, or (2) it (ratings) is the only gauge in town.

THE FACT that every TV show canceled this season had below a 20 Nielsen rating and - or below a 30 Nielsen share-of-audience percentage seems to prove that Nielsen is the ultimate gauge of a show's success or failure.

As for the "poker game" chestnut, no law exists which says the networks and other interested parties can't pool their resources and start their own "poker game" and make it a better one.

Why hasn't the TV industry pressured Mr. Nielsen into improving his rating sample, or established its own rating system?

The answer is simple and shocking. TV's leaders don't care that much about accuracy when they are counting their audience by the millions.

ARCHAIC as Mr. Nielsen's counting apparatus may be, it can tell a network whether a particular prime-time TV program is being watched by 15 million people or 25 million.

By today's cost standards, 15 million isn't enough audience to warrant a sponsor's laying out $50,000 per minute for his commercial message. For an audience of 25 million, the sponsor may be willing to go along.

But perhaps a network show falls between 15 and 25 million, give or take 5 million either way.

What then? Well, it's just tough, that's all. This makes it a borderline case. The sponsors get shaky and cancel out, and the network decides to throw another show in its spot in the hope it can bounce the rating up.

FREQUENTLY it happens the new show is of poorer quality than the first one, but the network is concerned primarily with making time sales, not "improving the breed."

If this seems a callous and arrogant attitude on the part of the networks, so be it. And if a few million viewers get gypped out of a favorite TV series now and then, so what? They'll get over it, or so the networks are gambling.

Some observers are optimistic enough to hope that the Washington exposure of TV ratings will sting TV and the raters into tightening up the operation, or at least pretending to care more about accuracy.

MR. NIELSEN has notified the networks he is increasing the cost of his service to them by 50 percent, but he did this one week before his company was called before the congressional investigating committee. It isn't known how much of this increase will be ploughed into improving the rating sample.

Unless Congress can find some way to legislate standards of practice for the rating services, which is unlikely, there isn't going to be any fundamental change in the almost mystic fashion TV audiences are measured.

All that the Washington hearings succeeded in doing was to expose again the networks' indifference toward their public responsibility, if indeed they even feel they have one.

MOST of the creative people in the Hollywood end of the TV and movie business are pinning their hopes on the advent of pay-TV ("the money in the box will tell us exactly how many people saw our show").

"But," as one movie producer already has said of pay-TV, "that is like waiting for a rich uncle to die, and I've given up."

Eating Places May

Not Sell Easter Stock

Sale of live rabbits and chicks is prohibited in places where meals are sold or food is kept for sale, the Board of Health reminded businessmen today.

The annual warning is issued by the board at the start of the general sale of the bunnies and poultry as Easter pets.

The city regulation applies particularly to restaurants, drug stores and groceries although it effects any place where food is kept. The "food" classification includes candy, the board said.

Bus Driver Charged

For Unsafe Operation

SANDUSKY Ohio (AP) - Charges of unsafe operation of a motor vehicle have been filed against Charles Taylor, 62-year-old Greyhound bus driver whose double-decker bus was involved in a fatal collision on the Ohio Turnpike Tuesday.

The collision of Taylor's bus and a tractor-trailer rig left one woman dead and six others severely injured.

Killed in the crash six miles east of the Sandusky-Norwalk interchange was Mrs. Gloria Loser of Lancaster, Pa. She was in her early 30s.

Taylor was to have retired today after 35 years driving buses.

2nd Contest Slated

For Traffic Safety

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Plans have been announced by the Ohio Petroleum Council to conduct the second annual $1,000 statewide traffic safety contest.

The contest will be conducted for three areas of highway safety enforcement, sheriff's offices, municipal police and Ohio Highway Patrol. Winners will each receive a $333 scholarship at a traffic school, one of which is held each year at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.

West Virginia County Courts Eye Election Law Changes

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) - County courts must consider changes made by the recent Legislature in laws governing elections and the payment of certain officials in preparing budgets for a new fiscal year to begin July 1.

The counties must carry out in 1964 a quadrennial check-up of voters and the scale of fees which they must pay registrars to do that work has been increased.

There are new provisions for increased travel allowances for election commissioners and for compensation of up to $10 a day for attendance by election officials at schools of instruction.

Secretary of State Joe F. Burdett, as the state's chief election official, outlined several of the election law changes in a letter to each county clerk.

Registrars now must be paid a minimum of 10 cents and up to a maximum of 20 cents for each person newly registered to vote. The old range was 5 to 15 cents.

There also is a new requirement that they be paid not less than 8 nor more than 12 cents for each transfer and each previous registration checked. The old pay scale was 4 to 8 cents.

Each registrar will continue to receive up to $10 a day for attending schools of instruction conducted by a county clerk.

Ballot commissioners now may be paid an amount to be fixed by the county court of up to $20 a day for as many of 10 days of work in connection with the preparation of ballots for any one primary, general or special election.

The circuit clerk designates two such commissioners to act with him as a board. The law formerly provided for compensation of up to $10 for as many as five days. Election officials also now may be paid up to $20 for service at any one election compared to the old maximum of $10.

Burdett said that steps have been taken to ease one problem many counties now face - that of insufficient space on voter registration cards to maintain a continuous record of voting performance as required by law.

A 1941 legislative act first set up a statewide, permanent system of voter registration. It also stipulated that registration card forms, which the Secretary of State must approve, must contain space for a continuous voting record.

Burdett said that there is remaining space on the original cards only for 1964 balloting, and that counties would encounter a sizeable expenditure if they were forced to re-register large numbers of persons in the coming fiscal year.

He added that the Attorney General's Office has agreed that counties may continue use of their present registration cards by providing new space through use of either a sticker, or a rubber stamp.

The sticker can be placed partially over the first 10-year voting record, and thus provide space for an additional period of up to about 1975. The stamp can be used in a section of the card originally provided for recording changes of address.

Police finally took them into custody, and the dies were moved while the women spent about 45 minutes in the county jail's "bullpen." They were not booked or put in cells.

Members of Local 1377, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, have been on strike at the plant since March 21 in a dispute over wages and work standards.

Mrs. Dorothy Ozog contended the company wanted to move the dies to other plants in Pennsylvania and Illinois to use in producing parts.

3 County Courts Pay $3,086 To Treasurer
LISBON - A total of $3,086.70 was paid to the county treasurer by the three County Courts during March, according to Carl L. Stacey, clerk of courts.

A breakdown shows $1,799.45 from fines and $1,287.25 in civil and criminal cases, plus court costs.

The state treasurer received $1,286.55 for its 45 per cent of the patrol fines.

The courts at Salem, East Palestine and Lisbon handled 235 criminal cases and 52 civil during the month.

Sheriff, constable and city police fees amounted to $147.44.

3 Brothers Charged In Bank Holdup

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Three Kentucky-born brothers have been arrested and charged with a $45,519 holdup at a West Side branch of the Ohio National Bank. Most of the holdup money, which had been stuffed into an old valise and buried, was recovered.

The FBI announced Tuesday night the arrest of Staff Sgt. Norman Linville, 39, stationed at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base near Dayton; Kenneth Ray Linville, 28, of Paris, Ky., and George R. Linville, 33, Miami, Fla. All are natives of Paris, Ky.

Norman and Kenneth Ray Linville were picked up shortly after the holdup Monday. Two guns, a .45-caliber automatic and a .38-caliber revolver, were confiscated from their car and they were held on charges of carrying concealed weapons.

E. D. Mason, agent-in-charge of the Cincinnati FBI office, said the break in the case came about noon Tuesday when they picked up George Linville at his brother's Page Manor home, near Wright-Patterson.

Mason said he readily admitted his part in the holdup and agreed to take agents to the wooded area near Xenia in Greene County, about 16 miles southeast of Dayton, where he buried the money after leaving his brothers in Columbus.

Mason said the valise contained $41,647, and George Linville was carrying $1,296 in cash, including a thousand dollar bill. Last night in Dayton, Linville waived preliminary hearing on federal bank robbery charges. He was to be returned to Columbus today where his brothers were scheduled for arraignment on similar charges.

DICK TRACY

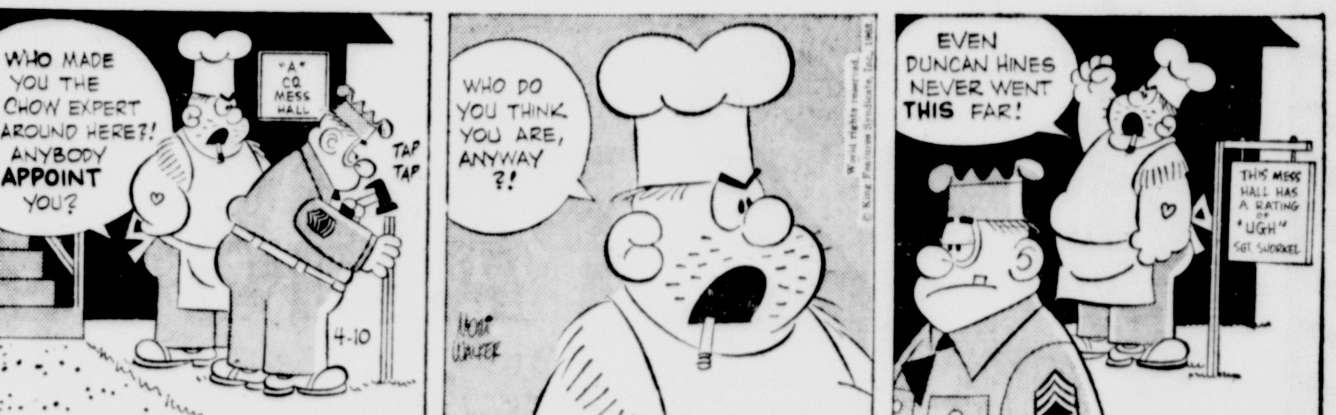

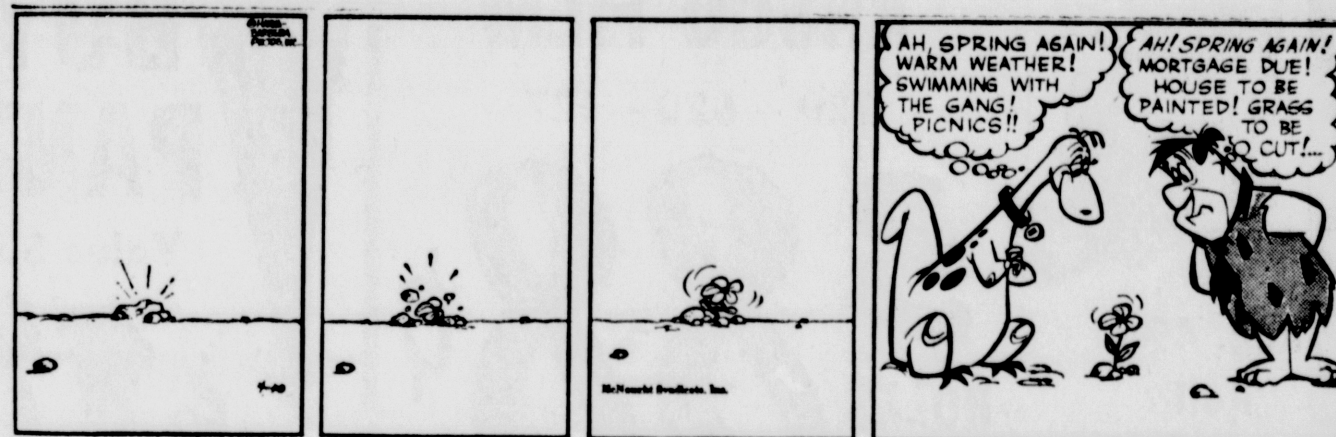

"Yes sir, I did tell you our dog doesn't bite — but I don't live here!"

ANSWER: No, and neither do meatballs; so we will have to admit that picture (1) is a pure piece of imagination on the part of our artist. Spaghetti, and the similar product, macaroni, are made from a special kind of wheat called durum, which has large hard kernels. For a long time durum wheat has been grown around the Mediterranean Sea, especially in Italy; and it was here that macaroni and spaghetti were developed as a favorite food (2). The durum wheat flour, mixed with water, produces a dough called semolina. This is placed in containers which have pistons inside which can be squeezed down. At the bottom of the containers are many small holes and the semolina is squeezed out of them to make long sticks of spaghetti which are then cut off. Macaroni is squeezed through a larger hole (4) and steel pins are stuck through the macaroni sticks to make them hollow. Nowadays, semolina products are made by large machines in factories. These products are nutritious, keep very well and seem nearly as popular here as they are in their native Italy. (Durum wheat is also grown in our Northwest.)

FOR YOU TO DO: Semolina is made into other shapes beside spaghetti and macaroni, such as tiny strings (vermicelli) and curved tubes (elbow macaroni). Especially inviting is shell macaroni, made like little sea shells. Ask your mother to serve you some.

Lynn Howard of Hamilton, Ont., wins $10 for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you may win $10, or the weekly grand prize of a set of Britannica Junior Encyclopedias.

Today In History

Today is Wednesday, April 10, the 100th day of 1963. There are 265 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this day in 1894, the United States, Britain, Russia and Japan signed a treaty ending the controversy over seal fishing in the Bering Sea. The pact was instrumental in conserving an important industry which at times had been threatened with extinction due to almost indiscriminate killing of seals.

On this day:
In 1790, Congress passed the country's first patent law.

In 1866, the New York Legislature chartered the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

In 1932, Paul von Hindenburg defeated Adolf Hitler in a runoff election for the presidency of Germany.

In 1942, Japanese troops landed on the island of Cebu in the Phil

In 1947, despite Soviet and Polish objections, the United Nations Atomic Commission voted to adopt the U.S. plan for discussing atomic control.
